Artwork and artist details

Artists can work in any media, both 2D and 3D.

The artwork has to be labelled on the back with the artist's name, title of the work and a contact phone number at the minimum.

All art must be the sole and original work of the artist (or artists, if a collaboration piece).

Where repurposed or mass-produced materials are used as the base of the artwork, the artist's original component has to be significant to be considered original. Non original component(s) have to be disclosed by the artist.

It is the artist's responsibility to acknowledge any copyright (such as if painting from a photograph not taken by the artist) or credits (such as if the artwork has been created in an art course).

Artists are urged to be mindful when using imagery from a culture other than their own, as it may be deemed culturally inappropriate and cause offence. We advise all artists to use due diligence by seeking guidance and advice. If any artworks are brought to our attention, we will liaise directly with the artist. The Fiordland Arts Society and Te Anau Waitangi Charitable Trust is not responsible for any offence caused.

The size and number of accepted art works may be limited depending on available display space. No more than three works per artist are preferred.

If any enquiries are made by the exhibition visitors the artist's contact details will be passed on. If available, artists are encouraged to provide their business cards.

All submitted art must be supplied with an entry form which can be obtained from the Fiordland Arts Hub and Te Anau Waitangi Charitable Trust online at teanauwaitangiday.co.nz.

All framed work artwork must be professionally presented and ready for hanging. Unframed work should preferably be matted or have a background mat/sheet with a suitable method to hang the piece.

Payments will be made to a nominated bank account at the end of the month in which the work sold.
